

All The Love

Installation by Cheselyn Amato

East Gallery, AXIS Gallery, November 4 – December 18, 2016

In the Beginning Beginning Now and Always As Has Always Begun and Always Will.

The Power of Love,
May She Stay with Me Always.
When She is not sure then shall she remember,
Do make my mark, and call me by mark,
With one fell swoop do say,
I, aye, I.

I say I in the way I say I
Because I say aye to You.

I am the light, I am the love.
Shine so that the ships may see,
Behold that the beacon can shine,
And must not leave its post to round up its seekers who may not even know they seek.

Begin oh beginning, from trust anew each time,
All possibility existing always, and with confident humility and humble confidence,
Do begin, and from the elements do make,
Thee, Thou, oneself,
I.
Aye, Aye.

By Will, Wisdom, and Practical Knowledge,
With Green and Blue, the Moon and the Sun, with Yellow and Red,
All form and pattern made,
Conjure my image thus, differentiate all that is, then differentiated, all that is,
Made with heart and my heart made,
Inside and outside look the same,
Inside and outside are the same,
Water the fecund earth, the fertile soil,
And begin beginning with the mark,
To Life, so green, I am.

With love and light,
Cheselyn
