

Every Woman Artist Exhibited at the Jewish Museum, 1947–2020

In honor of International Women's Day, explore our master list of every woman artist exhibited at the Jewish Museum since 1947.

Today is International Women's Day, celebrated around the world as a day to recognize the social, economic, cultural, and artistic achievement of women.

In 2010, the Jewish Museum presented Shifting the Gaze: Painting and Feminism, an exhibition that explored the origins and impact of feminism on contemporary painting from the 1960s to the early 2000s, featuring key figures in feminist art such as Eva Hesse, Joan Semmel, Deborah Kass, and Miriam Schapiro, whose work pushed feminist ideologies to take place not only in the realm of ideas and politics, but also in style and form. The artwork on view in Shifting the Gaze offered a counterpoint to an art world dominated by men to one that encompasses women's history, experience, and material culture.

In conjunction with the exhibition, the Jewish Museum published a comprehensive record of all women artists in exhibitions at the Museum since 1947, when the Museum moved to its current location inside the Warburg Mansion on 1109 Fifth Avenue. The project considered the pervasive underrepresentation of women artists in American museums during the twentieth century and documents the Jewish Museum's history of integrating work by women into its collections and exhibitions.

On International Women's Day, we revisited the original list of 550 women artists and expanded it into the year 2020 — now including 714.

Also in honor of International Women's Day, today from 1–5:30 pm, join us at the Jewish Museum for our third annual Wikipedia Edit-a-Thon, co-presented with Art+Feminism, dedicated to improving coverage of cis and transgender women online. Can't make it to the Museum? Participate remotely from anywhere in the world.
